MOTORCYCLIST PULLED WHEELIES AND HIT TERRIFYING SPEEDS

149mph M2 stunt biker banned for 18 months

By MATHEW BEECH

mathew.beech@kosmedia.co.uk

A BIKER who was caught speeding at almost 150mph and pulling illegal stunts on the M2 has been banned from the road for 18 months.

Kent Police's unmarked bike secured the conviction of Danny Bleach as he performed wheelies and hit terrifying speeds – more than double the speed limit – between Strood and Chatham.

Bleach, of Coleman Road, Belvedere, was disqualified after pleading guilty at Medway Magistrates' Court.

The 37-year-old will have to take an extended test before getting his licence back. He was also ordered to do 200 hours' community service, pay £85 costs and given a six-month suspended prison sentence.

He was filmed by officers from the Central Motorcycle Unit, within the specialist Tactical Operations Group, riding along the coast-bound carriageway of the M2 from Strood to Chatham on November 7, last year. He was filmed pulling two wheelies before riding off at speeds of up to 149mph.

PC Chris King was riding the unmarked bike. He said: "This motorcyclist had a total disregard for the road and other riders.

"The consequences of Bleach's riding could have been so much worse.

"Unmarked police bikes are a significant asset in our efforts to tackle dangerous and antisocial use of vehicles, as can be seen from the consistent successful outcomes we see at court. I would like to reassure all those who use the roads responsibly that our unmarked bikes and cars are there for their safety, and

Amherst cannons in wedding salute

A 21-GUN salute will sound across Medway on April 29 as the cannons of Fort Amherst are fired to celebrate the royal wedding of Prince William and Kate Middleton.

The Queen has given permission for the historic fort in Chatham to fire the guns on the day of her grandson's nuptials. It is believed to be the first time such a salute has been fired from the fort for more than a century.

Hospital team winning the battle against MRSA

jill.hurst@kosmedia.co.uk

MEDWAY and Maritime Hospital has slashed the number of MRSA infections to zero - putting it ahead of all other hospitals in the South East.

The trust said it had achieved the result after adopting a "zero-tolerance" regime and ordering staff to "hunt-down" the bug.

A team of infection control experts, pharmacists and phlebotomists now test up to 20,000 patients each month to ensure the hospital stays free from infection.

Linda Dempster, head of infection prevention and control, said she was delighted at the latest figures, produced by the Health Protection Agency.

"We are extremely proud to have achieved the highest reduction in MRSA bloodstream infections in the South East coast region," she said.

"Contrary to public opinion, many people carry the MRSA bacteria on the skin and aren't aware of it. We have worked to identify those coming into the hospital as carriers and prevent infection by following a set regime."

Mrs Dempster said patients with MRSA who required urgent proce-dures did not suffer any time delays

She said: "It's a high impact and positive campaign and we hope it sends a positive message to the public.

"This has been a team effort. The trust has created a culture to make sure we work together to get results."

It's a remarkable turn around for the hospital which saw the bug sweep through the hospital in 2004.

Two patients in their seventies died and the hospital was forced to cut visiting times and undertake a deep clean. At the time a probe was launched and the hospital was placed fourth in a list of the worst hospitals for MRSA with 13 deaths in 12 months.

However, the trust has introduced a range of infection control measures which include a bare below the elbows dress code for all clinical staff, personal hand gels for all doctors and nurses throughout the trust, and additional hand gel dispensers on the wards.

It has also introduced a range of improved management of devices such as urinary catheters and drips.

MRSA stands for meticillin-resistant staphylococcus aureus. The bacterium is resistant to some strains of antibiotics making infections slightly more difficult to treat.

Some people carry MRSA harmlessly on their skin or in their nose but some patients become more at risk of infection when they undergo certain procedures.

Medway Maritime has screened every patient entering the hospital since 2008.

Police tribute to officer killed on A2

COLLEAGUES have paid tribute to the policeman killed in a motorcycle accident.

Terence Easterby, 44, who was a sergeant at Medway police station, was killed in a three vehicle collision on the A2.

Mr Easterby suffered fatal injuries on February 25 and died at the scene following a collision between a grey Peugeot 306, a beige Skoda Fabia and a gold Honda motorcycle.

Commander, Superintendent Steve Corbishley said: "Terry joined Kent Police in 1986 and served the force with dedication for over 24 years

"He had worked at Medway since 2003 and most recently held the position of Detective Sergeant in the Crime Response Team. "Terry was a professional, commit-and two young girls and at an appropriate time I will be meeting with them to share my condolences and establish the funeral arrangements so that we, his colleagues, will have the opportunity to celebrate his life and remember the wonderful man that was a part of our policing family."

Another man suffered minor injuries as a result of the accident and was taken to Medway Maritime Hospital.

Kent Police's Serious Collision Investigation Unit is continuing to appeal for witnesses.

The collision happened at about 7.40am on Bloors Lane, Rainham, and caused the A2 to be closed in both directions.

Anyone with information should call the Kent Police Serious Collision Investigation Unit on 01622 798538.

Pets saved after mirror sparks blaze at house

A DOG and cat had to be rescued from a burning building after a bizarre fire was sparked in Fire crews sent to put out the blaze on Monday afternoon believe it was sparked after sunlight on a vanity mirror caused clothing to catch light.

Two engines from Medway Fire Station were sent to tackle the incident at around 2.15pm after neighbours heard a smoke alarm sounding and saw smoke coming from the two-storey property. Crews wore breathing apparatus to tackle the blaze in a first floor bedroom and rescued the pets from the property. The fire was extinguished within half an hour, causing damage to 20 per cent of the room.

Crew manager Nina Batsford said: "There was no-one home at the time and it appears that sun through the window had been reflected onto clothing and caused a fire. Fortunately the householders had a working smoke alarm and this alerted neighbours so we were called at an early stage and were able to prevent major damage.

"The pets were absolutely fine but clearly this could have been a lot worse and we think it's a good reminder to people to think carefully about where they place mirrors in their homes."

Public schools in ugly clash over league ranking

By JILL HURST

jill.hurst@kosmedia.co.uk

A BITTER feud has erupted between two of Medway's top public schools.

Now one of the independent schools has been reported to the advertising watchdog by the head of a rival school for claiming it is the best in the country.

Ian Walker, the head of King's School in Rochester, has complained about Gad's Hill School in Higham to the Advertising Standards Authority (ASA).

The row centres around a sign put up outside Gad's Hill which proclaims it "the top performing" public school in England.

Dr Walker described Gad's Hill's boasts as a "load of undiluted rubbish" and criticised the league tables on which the claims had been made.

Film ticket stub to get you inside castle walls

ROCHESTER Castle hits the silver screen this week in the latest movie blockbuster – even though the film was shot in Wales.

But Medway Council is hoping the film, which opened on Friday, will boost interest in the building and filmgoers will get free entry to the castle when they present their cinema stub to staff at the historic site.

The film relives one of the most prominent dates in English medieval history, as the despised King John, who is forced to sign a Magna Carta upholding the rights of free men, goes back on his pledge and tries to regain control of his country.

Rochester Castle stands as a symbol of the rebels' struggles of freedom and justice as it becomes the last castle between the King and inevitable victory and a two-month battle ensues.

The film stars Paul Giamatti as King John and Brokeback Mountain actress Kate Mara, Medway Council's portfolio UNDER SIEGE: James Purefoy as Knight Templar in Ironclad holder for community services, Cllr Howard Doe said: "This film is an exciting opportunity for people to relive a hugely significant and momentous part of the area's history and see Rochester Castle like they have never seen it before.

Royal wedding to go off with a bang with 21-gun salute at fort

FORT Amherst has received permission from the Queen to fire a 21-gun salute as part of the royal wedding celebrations.

Buckingham Palace has approved plans for the historic fort in Chatham to fire the tribute at midday, following the Westminster Abbey service of Prince William and Kate Middleton.

It will be the first time the guns have been fired for a salute for more than a century.

Describing the news, Glenn Robinson, project coordinator, said it was one of the most exiting events to be staged at the fort.

He said: "The chance to fire a full royal salute of 21 guns is a rare honour for a non-military organisation."

The salute will be fired using

The salute will be fired using five black powder cannon on gun carriages by re-enactors from the Napoleonic Association.

The Fort Amherst Heritage Trust said it believed it was the only 21-gun salute being fired on April 29.

Traders work with police to ban offenders

By MATHEW BEECH

mathew.beech@kosmedia.co.uk

CONVICTED offenders and people with anti-social behaviour orders could soon banned from shops and pubs.

Kent Police is working alongside the Safer Medway Partnership (SMP) in a bid to exclude offenders from a number of shops and pubs across the towns.

The SMP is made up of 181 premises in Medway, who all work together to share information and prevent crime and anti-social behaviour.

The SMP is able to exclude anyone from all of the shops for a length of time, if there is reason to believe they have been involved in any form of crime at one of their stores.

Kent Police in Medway is able to provide the SMP with details of individuals who have been charged, cautioned or given a fixed penalty notice for any incident of violent crime, criminal damage or retail crime relating to any premises in the partnership.

The SMP is then in a position to make an informed decision on whether or not that individual should receive an exclusion notice and be banned from any premises.

Now, Kent Police in Medway is re-enforcing that message to offenders by giving them letters when they leave custody to inform them that their details will be passed to the SMP.

Inspector Joy Dean from the Community Safety Unit (CSU) at Medway Police station said: "We are keen to work closely with the SMP by providing them with information regarding individuals, which they may or may not choose to use.

"By excluding them from more than 180 premises across Medway, the SMP is sending a clear message that they will not tolerate this kind of behaviour.

"Exclusion notices are not a new invention, but Kent Police in Medway has never before issued offenders with direct letters to say their details will be passed on to the SMP.

"It is then up to the partnership to make an informed decision on whether or not an exclusion order should be issued.
"The majority of the exclusion orders last 12 months and they are usually given to the most prolific offenders."

SMP Coordinator Chris Griffiths said:

"The Safer Medway Partnership welcomes the support of Kent Police, and by working together we will target those who spoil it for all on a daily basis.

"Those who receive a warning letter will need to take it very seriously. "SMP and its members for both retail and the night economy, want to target those persistent individuals and send out a message that we will not tolerate crime, anti-social behaviour, violence, or any other serious offences in our members' premises.

Harassment

"Exclusion notices have been issued to some prolific offenders over the last year, and we will be issuing more very soon.

"Exclusion notices can also be extended if people continue to offend or cause alarm and harassment, and that information can be collated for any further action the SMP wishes to take through the courts.

"By targeting these individuals with exclusion notices, stock losses will be reduced, and it will help to create a safer shopping and socialising experience for local people and visitors to Medway.

"An exclusion notice is one of the benefits of joining our scheme, and is sending out a clear

Shutting out bogus callers

CRIMINALS who target vulnerable people while posing as professional workmen are being highlighted as part of a national campaign, writes Steve Knight.

Kent Police is among the organisations signed up to Operation Liberal, which aims to raise awareness of the tactics offenders use to gain access to their victims' homes.

Post offices, doctors' surgeries, charity shops, bingo halls and more will all receive posters in the coming weeks promoting the campaign.

"Bogus callers, rogue traders and distraction burglars prey on older or more vulnerable members of our communities before seizing their opportunity," said Chief Supt Neil Jerome.

"This can cause confusion and distress for the victim, and potentially the loss of their personal items or money. It can also have a negative impact on their health and

"Some items taken are of great sentimental value, and are irreplaceable to the victim.

"Operation Liberal reinforces the work done by Kent Police throughout the year to raise awareness of bogus callers or tradesmen. We also work closely with partner agencies and Kent County Council."

Just this week Kent Trading Standards warned of a bogus Red Cross collector knocking on doors in Tankerton.

The man, who wore a Red Cross sweatshirt and held a clipboard, was asking for information about elderly people in the area and say-ing the Red Cross could offer free transport to medical appointments.

When challenged by one resident he left promptly, but other residents said the caller had requested unwanted items to sell to raise money for the Red Cross.

Charity

The charity has confirmed the man has nothing to do with the organisation.

In May last year, a 95-year-old Sittingbourne woman had £1,600 stolen from her home after letting in a man who claimed to be an engineer from the local housing association.

That same month a 69-year-old man from Strood, near Rochester, opened his door to a thief posing as a representative from the electricity board.

He said the resident owed £200 and asked him to pay it now. But when the man went to fetch his wallet - which contained £2,000 in cash - the caller followed him into the house, snatched the money and fled.

Operation Liberal is aimed at arming residents with the information they need to spot when somebody is trying to trick them.

Det Con Peter Weston, of Kent Police's Force Intelligence Bureau, said: "Genuine salesmen, utility staff or traders will be happy to show identification badges

"Our advice is to always use door chains or

THE current high rate of inflation has been blamed for large water bill increases in Kent.

Water companies have been given the green light to raise charges broadly in line with a 4.7 per cent rate of inflation – based on last November's Retail Price Index – resulting in even further expense for households struggling to cope with the effects of the downturn.

Customers served by South East Water can expect the largest bill increases in the county, due to a 7.8 per cent rise of £14, up to an average bill of £193.

Southern Water, which provides Kent homes with both water and sewerage services, is raising charges by 6.4 per cent (£24) to a total average bill of £397.

The chairwoman of the Consumer Council for Water (CCWater), Dame Yve Buckland, said bill-payers would be rightly surprised by the large increases.

She said: "Many customers are struggling with rising household and other bills, and debt is rising. Already one in six customers tells us that they cannot afford their water bill.

"We want the companies to demonstrate to customers what they are getting for their money, and also to think how they might share the benefits of this unexpected financial gain with their customers.

"Water companies need to make profits and that's fine, but when they have done well financially in the past CCWater has been successful in persuading them to give £135 million back to customers in the form of lower prices and additional investments in the water and sewerage network to benefit cus-

"We will be talking to the companies to see how this can be repeated in this price period." In 2009, the water regulator Ofwat ruled that bills must remain broadly stable up until 2015. However, inflation is still added to the costs on a year-by-year basis.

Inflation blamed for big rise in water bills

April 1, and remain in place until March 31,

South East Water managing director Paul Butler said its bill increases would help to deliver £390m of service improvements over the next five years.

He added: "We have worked hard over the last year to deliver our largest ever improvement programme, and over the next year we will invest another £80m to continue to improve the service our customers receive.

While we believe that an average of just 53p per day remains excellent value for money, we do appreciate that some of our customers may be experiencing financial difficulties and so we have measures in place to help those customers facing real hardship."

Southern Water says its bills will contribute to a £1.7 billion service improvement programme, including £15m to find and repair leaking pipes, and £90m upgrading water and wastewater treatment works in 2011-12.

Meanwhile, customers served by the three other companies providing water to Kent households have also been hit by inflationbusting increases.

Thames Water has raised its charges by 4.1 per cent, to a total of £319 for water and sewerage, Veolia Southeast (formerly Folkestone and Dover Water) by 3.1 per cent to £190, and Sutton and East Surrey Water by 5.2 per cent to £174.

Visa hike blow to universities

By STEVE KNIGHT

steve.knight@kosmedia.co.uk

UNIVERSITY leaders have warned that a planned overhaul of the UK immigration system could seriously harm the future prospects of the higher education sector.

The Coalition wants to double the price of student visas as part of its proposals to limit Agency, which faces a 20 per cent budget reduction over the next four years.

The Government also plans to reduce the number of foreign students studying below degree level, raise the students' language requirements, and limit their entitlement to work and bring their families to the UK.

Seymour Roworth-Stokes is pro-vice chancellor for research and development at the University for the Creative Arts, which has campuses in Canterbury, Rochester and Maidstone.

He is one of many university leaders who fear the changes will put legitimate students off coming to the UK.

"Universities, including UCA, are facing tough economic challenges with cuts in funding, a cap on student places and setting new tuition fees," said Mr Roworth-Stokes

DETERRENT: Higher costs could discourage foreign students from study in the county

"Before the Government announced it was going to withdraw nearly all the teaching budget in the sector, we had already begun to develop our 'internationalisation strategy' and, in the process, increase the number of overseas students.

"This is of crucial importance to a specialist university which has a reputation for nurturing creative talent worldwide. It also helps to diversify income streams while allowing us to grow and become more efficient, helping to keep costs down.

"Any hasty immigration policies affecting student visas could have a serious effect on the survival of many universities, while also passing on extra costs to students in the UK.

"Therefore we should continue to seek a shift in the funding provided by migrants to deliver the border and immigration system.

"It is right that those who benefit from the immigration system should pay to meet the costs of securing the UK's borders."

In addition to the student visa fee increases, the Coalition also plans to increase the costs associated with longer-term applications.

For example, a 10-year visitor's visa is due to go up £52 to £702, while the fee for a joint application for British citizenship will rise from £1,010 to £1,294.

John Slater, director of student recruitment at Canterbury Christ Church University, said: "We have a vibrant and growing international student community, which numbers 1,300.

Archbishop slammed for criticism of budget cuts

By STEVE KNIGHT and FLORENCE TENNENT

steve.knight@kosmedia.co.uk

A HIGH-ranking Tory MP has hit back at criticism by the Archbishop of Canterbury that government spending cuts are putting vulnerable people at risk.

Dr Rowan Williams told KoS this week that he wished councils had the option to make cuts to services over a longer period of time, and that he was worried some people would continue to be worse off even after the economy has recovered.

But Sevenoaks MP Michael Fallon – the deputy chairman of the Conservative Party and a member of the influential Treasury select committee – denies the Government is failing to protect the most vulnerable members of society.

Funding

Dr Williams spoke to KoS during a visit to a new 21-bed sheltered accommodation project in Canterbury, provided by the Kentwide homeless support charity Porchlight. He said: "There's not a lot of public funding

He said: "There's not a lot of public funding available and there's going to be less. I think all councils are in a no-win situation.

"I could wish they were a little more forward planning when the cuts come in, because you've got to make sure the vulnerable are protected – that has to be the priority.

"The worst thing that could happen is as we're getting some level of prosperity back for the country, we leave the most vulnerable worse off than they were before."

Councils have little option but to make huge savings over the next financial year due to the front-loading of cuts imposed by the Coalition.

Kent County Council, for example, must save £95m this year, followed by £65m in 2012-13.

Porchlight has reported consistently high numbers of homeless people needing assistance over the last few months and fears numbers will increase as access to benefits and private accommodation is reduced.

But Mr Fallon defended the Government's position, claiming policies were in place to ensure the most vulnerable members of society are not left to suffer.

He said: "We are protecting those at the bottom. We're taking a million low-paid people out of income tax, increasing the rate of child tax credits, and introducing the pupil premium that will provide more funding for schools in disadvantaged areas.

"We are protecting them but taking away some of the benefits from the top.

"It's up to the Archbishop to speak exactly as he sees fit, but people should also go and look up what he said in the past about how the previous Labour government plunged us so deep into this debt to begin with."

Mr Fallon was referring to comments made in late 2008 when Dr Williams likened then-Prime Minister Gordon Brown's plans to boost spending in a downturn as like "the addict returning to the drug".

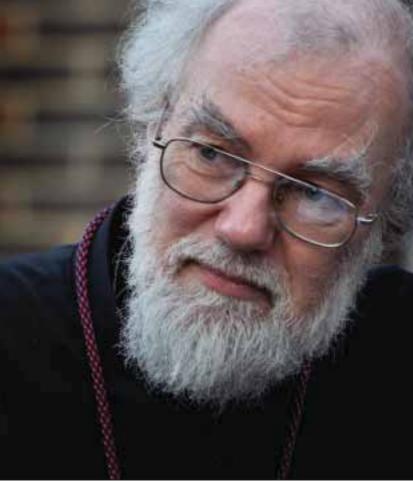

The head of the Church of England visited Craddock House in Canterbury last week to lend his support to a new Porchlight campaign to tackle homelessness in Kent.

The charity is asking members of the public to report evidence of homelessness in the hope it will allow its volunteers to find and help more rough sleepers.

A pilot of the scheme run in Shepway, Ashford, Sevenoaks and Tunbridge Wells at the end of last year saw the number of calls to Porchlight's free helpline rise from 723 in the previous month to 900 calls a month.

Dr Williams said: "I think issues around homelessnessare really serious and they're very often pushed under the carpet."

• Anyone who suspects someone needs the charity's help should visit www.porchlight.org.uk/changeafuture or call 0800 567 7699.

THE countdown is on for the return of Archant KOS Media's celebrated Travel and Leisure Show.

Located at Dover Cruise Terminal, the event is making its welcome comeback from 10am-4pm on Sunday, March 13, and promises to be better than ever. And best of all, it's free.

Visitors will be treated to presentations from industry experts as well as information from a French contingent who are taking part in the show for the first time in its four-year history.

Guests will be in with a chance of winning from a selection of almost 100 prizes donated by KOS Media's exhibitors, including a two-week cruise courtesy of Fred. Olsen Cruise Line.

Other prizes include weekend breaks in the UK or France, entry to some of the county's most popular attractions and dinner at a selection of top French restaurants.

Tickets for Les Miserables, overnight stays at leading hotels and B&Bs and falconry lessons at Quex Park in Birchington are also up for grabs KOS Media events manager Liz Hare said: "Every year the show goes from strength to strength, with many people every year, saying they wouldn't miss it for the world.

"We have a completely new area this year devoted entirely to France, featuring French companies who have come across the Channel to be represented for the first time.

"Since its launch three years ago this show has been very successful, and with the registrations already pouring in and 97 prizes on offer, I hope this year will exceed all expectations."

The show will run during British Tourism Week, which aims to raise awareness of the importance of Britain's visitor economy.

Organisers behind the national event, which runs from March 12-20, gave KOS Media official accreditation for the annual Travel and Leisure Show.

As well as a host of exhibitors from top travel and ferry companies, there will also be information about attractions in Britain and Kent, for those planning to holiday at home.

Owners of the county's historic sites, gardens, attractions and other hidden gems will also be exhibiting.

Last year's show won the praise of the travel industry, with many putting in early reservations to secure display stands for this year.

There will be hot and cold food and drinks available, as well as children's entertainment, including balloon making.

Entry is free, and free parking is available.

CHRIS BRITCHER says the Lib Dems could pay a hefty price for coalition policies at local elections

Lib Dems heading for an almighty kick in the polls

To comment on this article go to the blog section on our or comment on any of our other news stories

IF INDEED it is possible, the upcoming local elections in May could actually emulate the last time we all strolled to our polling station almost exactly a year before, in terms of sheer excitement.

Because come May 5 we are likely to see just how the general public has responded to the coalition government's first year in power.

What's more, the regular swing in support of the opposition this year looks set to make it a a fascinating battle. And the chances are, the Tories may ride the wave of cutback complaints while their bedfellows in Westminster, namely the Liberal Democrats, take an almighty tumble.

To continue the surfing metaphor for a moment, it seems they may be flung so far off their surfboard they find themselves onshore and being run over by a runaway bus packed to the rafters with disillusioned voters.

All of which makes a change from the swing between Labour and the Conservatives which traditionally happens during this inbetween General Election voting frenzy.

The Barnsley by-election held last week suggests Nick Clegg and his cohorts are in for something of a drubbing as they found themselves trailing in sixth place.

Of course, the local elections ought to be based on how your local councillor performs on a local level. How influential are they? How much time and effort do they put in? How do they respond to your requests?

The reality, needless to say, is that they pay the price of national politics and national policies.

For the Liberal Dems this will come as something of a shock to the system. After so long being desperate to win power – even if only a share of it – they are having to face the fact that tradition dictates we kick the ruling party hard for any failings we see in them.

The Lib Dems' traditional role is to benefit from this. To win over the protest vote from irate Tories or Labour voters. This year they seem destined for an almighty kick in the polls. Which given, let us not forget, they actually saw a decrease in their overall vote last May – despite all the pre-election hype – suggests they may well find themselves decimated at a local level come May 6.

What's more, there is perhaps a bigger opportunity than ever before for some of the smaller parties – or the independents. All of which should make for a fascinating outcome.

Even Kent, a county so true blue the hue can be seen from space, could open up in remarkable ways.

Will Labour see their appalling showing at the last election begin the much heralded rebirth? Will the Liberal Democrats will the Liberal Democrats suffer here as much as they did in Barnsley? And will the Conservatives still emerge as the all-powerful party for the county?

For anyone who believes politics – at any level – to be boring or not worthy of their attention, then this upcoming polling day should be the one where you sit up and take notice. Because in local elections, a swing of just a few dozen votes in each ward could usher in a radical new ruling party in the district.

Whether you believe Labour are responsible for the current round of cuts, or that the coalition is simply going too far and hiding its ideology agenda beneath sweeping changes to public services, now is the time to have your say.

If ever there is a time to make sure you are registered to vote, and that you make the effort to vote, do it on May 5. Because this is your chance to change things – or maintain the status quo. Don't let this opportunity go to waste.

Bridging conservation gap for rare dormice

By STEVE KNIGHT

steve.knight@kosmedia.co.uk

UNIQUE bridges that enable dormice to cross the road will be among the topics discussed at a conference dedicated to the protected species.

Last year, a council in south Wales spent £190,000 on wire mesh tubes suspended between trees and poles to help the tiny mammals get from one side of a new bypass to the other. Dormice populations have suffered a 70 per cent loss in the last 25 years and there are thought to be only 40,000 left in the UK, including the hazel dormouse most commonly found in Kent.

In an attempt to raise awareness of their plight, the Kent Mammal Group is organising a conference to be held at the University of Greenwich's Medway campus. Group president Ken West said the potential for dormice crossings would be discussed at the event, but stopped short of personally endorsing the idea.

"We know that if the dormice get desperate enough for food, they will attempt to cross roads," he said. "But then they obviously put themselves in great danger; not only because of vehicles but also because of predators.

"The issue of building bridges is contentious because not enough research has been carried out to see if they would even use them. The need has possibly been exaggerated."

AT RISK: There are only about 40,000 dormice in the UK, but they are protected by law

More than a decade ago the Kent Mammal Group helped collect about 100 dormice living in the path of the Channel Tunnel rail link before moving them to other parts of the UK where the creatures had vanished.

Mr West said it showed how seriously the issue of conservation is taken by developers.

"To receive planning consent you have to show you are doing everything you can to mitigate the stress protected species may be put under," he said. "It can be very difficult to build a home on a site known to be used by dormice, and it's the same for roads and railways.

"You'll never stop a road being built, but you can delay it so a protected species can be moved first. If we didn't such animals would become extinct very quickly and that's something we want to avoid."

Recognisable by its furred bushy tail and orange-brown colour, the hazel dormouse lives in woodland, scrub and hedgerows. It rarely ventures to ground level, except during the winter when it hibernates under tree roots.

Debbie Bartlett from the University of Greenwich said: "The conference provides an excellent opportunity for students to learn from the experts.

"They will gain in-depth knowledge about this fascinating animal, which is highly valued and protected under European, as well as UK, legislation. We are delighted to work with Kent Mammal Group and support its work."

The conference is from 9am to 4.50pm on Saturday.

RESTAURANT REVIEW BY ED HILL

THE worst experience you are likely to have eating out is on Valentine's Day.

Restaurants are inevitably packed, staff are stressed and the cooks are throwing food on to the plate just to get it out of the door.

With this in mind, my partner and I decided to avoid February 14 and go out a day early instead.

Unromantic maybe, possibly unlucky, but pragmatic, and as this year's lovers' day fell on a Monday it also seemed a nice way to round off the weekend.

We plumped for Samphire restaurant in Whitstable. This small premises is situated on the high street very close to the Duke Of Cumberland pub.

If you have reserved a table, your name is chalked on its top. For those who want to keep a low profile for an illicit liaison, this might be a bit troublesome, but personally I thought it was a nice touch.

The décor is rustic. The tables have rough surfaces, there is an assortment of chairs and tables, and the floor levels rise and fall, meaning you can end up tipped over your dinner. There's certainly a lack of pretension about the place.

Delicacies

Samphire describes its food as modern British. As ever these days, ingredients are sourced locally and foraged delicacies usually give each dish a certain flourish. The fare also changes with the seasons.

Indeed, looking at the menu, as much thought goes into the starters as into the main

I could have opted for Godmersham pigeon with chestnut and sage sausage and mulled wine syrup, at more than £8 a slightly hefty price for a starter but no doubt worth a try.

However, I am a bit conservative when it comes to starters. I like my entrée to be light just to get the juices going or at least as different from my main course as possible.

On a cold winter's night the soup seemed a good option (OK, I admit it, it was also the cheapest at £4.95). It may have been plain old leek and potato, but there was nothing plain about the taste.

The steaming bowl came with semi-leavened bread which seemed more like cake rather than a French stick, but it partnered the thick soup well.

Moving on to the main course, there was an attractive, varied selection. It was good to see some interesting vegetarian dishes on the board, too.

My partner is a committed veggie (not the $\,$ pretend ones who allow themselves fish), so sometimes eating out can be disappointing for her as she is faced with yet another bowl of vegetable risotto.

The chefs at Samphire obviously want to ensure vegetarian customers don't feel like second-class citizens.

She had roast butternut squash and Twineham Grange (English parmesan) pie (£13.50), while I went for steak-and-imperial-oyster pudding, roasted root vegetables and stout gravy (£17).

Not being a fan of kidneys, the oysters made a superb alternative, absorbing the taste of the thick gravy in the suet casing.

The evening was rounded off by a really tasty treacle tart for my partner my vanilla crème brûlée, served out of the dish, which made a nice change

Samphire is a real find. It has friendly staff and genuinely interesting dishes at prices that are not off the scale.

I can't think of a better way (not) to spend Valentine's night.

The meal at Samphire plus drinks came to a total of £62.40.

Staring down the barrel Derek Hussey talks about filling Ian Dury's shoes

REPLACING a front man in a band is always difficult.

It's hard to imagine The Rolling Stones without Mick Jagger, for example, so when the Blockheads needed someone to take the place of the legendary Ian Dury they avoided some session man brought in to fulfil a few concert commitments.

Derek Hussey was a close friend of the pub-rock poet who started the band back in the mid 70s.

He met Dury at the beginning of the 90s and they began to hang out together at each others' homes in west London. It was not long before Dury, who had been disabled by polio as a boy, asked Hussey to help him out on tour.

"He had not gigged for a while and the band had to do a show for Madstock," said Hussey. "Mickey Gallagher [the keyboard player used to look after him, but Ian said he was a musician so he should concentrate on that and not have to deal with him. He said you can drive me to gigs and we can hang out together."

Hussey had been successful running his own business in the special-effects industry. His work can be seen on films such as Alien and Braveheart, where plastic-made costumes and props are given a special coating to make them look realistically metallic.

He said: "I had always been my own boss, so I was able to make the time to go on tour. Ian said to me 'The only job you have to do is help me up if I fall over – other than that you can do what you like'."

This informal arrangement had other benefits when it came to dealing with Dury's legendary temper.

"It wasn't a paid job - we were mates. I wasn't going to be his dog's body or minder. There were no strings attached and he couldn't go over the top with me because he wasn't paying me anything.

"I had an ability to keep a check on him and the band loved that because up until then one of them would have to cope with him," said Hussey.

If hotel staff got a hard time from Dury, it was always for some legitimate reason, says Hussey, but his anger meant problems got dealt with quickly.

He said: "Ian always had to have the last word about everything. I think being demanding was something that he had learnt growing up and dealing with the polio. A lot of the time people just found it easier to allow him to be like that.

Derek the Draw, as he became known, spent more time with the Blockheads and his role grew. He would help Dury, who was now also dealing with terminal cancer, on and off stage and join in with the percussion.

Dury died in March 2000, but there was still a demand to hear Dury's unique lyrics and music created by one of the most talented bunch of musicians in the business.

Comedian Phil Jupitas stepped in for a few tribute gigs with the rest of the band sharing the songs, but this was never going to be a long-term answer.

Then in rehearsals Hussey was asked to take the microphone and he soon found himself performing live. He was lead vocals on half the band's songs, with guitarist John Turnbull doing the others.

Joining in Hussey said: "I was doing the new songs and Johnny was doing the hits. Then he was away for four weeks, so I had to learn the rest.

"When he came back, the band said actually it sounds better when Derek does them. Johnny is a great singer, but he is almost too good. Ian's work wasn't really singing in the traditional sense. It's just important people can hear all the words."

Hussey had also started collaborating with Chaz Jankel, who wrote the music for the Blockheads' biggest hits such as Hit Me With Your Rhythm Stick and Sex And Drugs And Rock and Roll.

He wrote the words for 10 songs on the group's last album, Staring Down The Barrel, which was released in 2009.

He said: "Working with Chaz is fantastic because he has a lot of patience and a way of coaxing stuff out of you even when you think the tank is empty. He can wrap a tune around almost any lyric that I do."

Many praised the album for sounding like a Blockhead creation, thinking it was made up of previously unheard-of Dury content. However, Hussey knows there is no point trying to imitate his old friend.

He said: "I don't try to copy Ian when it comes to what I write about. He was a character-based writer who would write about what he saw and the people he met.

"My approach is based on the issues that I want to talk about and the things that give me the hump. It is important to keep that humour with the Blockheads because that is our trademark and it makes the writing process more open.'

The band continue to tour and write new songs. Hussey says they want to work them into the set before going through the expensive process of releasing a new album.

He said: "It has been a big learning curve, but I have had a seven- or eight-year apprenticeship. It's not a job for the fainthearted. The Blockheads are such a bunch of individuals, it's every man for himself

• The Blockheads will be performing at the East Quay in Whitstable on Saturday, April 30. Tickets £15. See www.whitlive.co.uk for details.

Keep Kent Working! It's jobs for Kent

Airport's welcoming presence

QUALITY ASSURED: Manston airport workers have successfully completed a City and Guilds Welcome Host Gold training course

Confidence is key to breaking the barrier

By STEVE KNIGHT

steve.knight@kosmedia.co.uk

A TRAINING provider dedicated to reducing the number of people on benefits has helped more than 1,600 Kent job-seekers secure employment in the last three years.

The national welfare-to-work organisation TNG - which has offices in Canterbury, Chatham, Gravesend, Sheppey, Ramsgate and Sittingbourne - finds jobs for one-inthree people who walk through its doors in the county.

Part of the Avanta Group, the service specialises in helping people who suffer from particular barriers including a lack of qualifications or work experience, low confidence, health-related issues, childcare problems, a criminal record, and so on.

One success story is Rebecca Youdle, 18, from Chatham, who left school at 16 and was so painfully shy that the thought of an interview terrified her.

"I didn't think I would get any benefit from going to TNG but thought I would give

WORKING: TNG aims to break barriers

it a go anyway," said Rebecca, who is now working in a supermarket thanks to the help of her personal job adviser, Mark

"As it turned out, TNG was incredibly helpful. I learned job search skills that actually work, I learned how to compile a CV and how to tailor it to different employers, I learned interview techniques and, importantly, I learned to persevere and not give up."

In addition to helping people into work, TNG also delivers training to employed people wishing to gain vocational qualifications, develop new skills and improve their career

The organisation specialises in assisting harder-to-reach groups such as the longterm unemployed, lone parents, people with disabilities, and ethnic minorities

Kent regional manager Heidi Griffin said: "At TNG we don't just help people work on their CV and give them a pile of job adverts. That doesn't help. We look at addressing the real issues around their unemployment, and almost everyone we see has a confidence issue. When someone becomes unemployed their confidence often takes a real knock.

"Unsuccessful applications, especially in challenging economic times such as these, can be demoralising and lead to a real lack of motivation.

"Rebecca is a good example of the work TNG does across the county. We worked with her to identify her barriers and helped her to take steps to address them.

"We can't solve every problem but we can help and support people as they take steps in the right direction.

"Rebecca wanted to work but she had lost motivation and confidence after being rejected. We helped her address those issues and. alongside our other workshops, she was able to find work and move off benefits.'

MANSTON airport workers have received expert training on how to give their visitors the warmest of welcomes. Thirty staff completed a City and Guilds course funded by county tourism champion Visit Kent, emphasising the importance of providing good customer service to people of all ages and nationalities

Issues covered included first impressions, listening skills, problem solving, and meeting and exceeding visitors' expectations.

Chief executive Charles Buchanan said: "Training and developing our staff is a key commitment of Manston airport, as is making sure we provide the best service to all our customers

"We are delighted to have been working with Visit Kent to ensure all our staff who deal directly with passengers are fully trained in the latest customer service prac-

Attractions

"We look forward to the next element of this programme - familiarising our customer service team with the huge range of tourist attractions and services Thanet and east Kent have to offer."

All 30 staff successfully completed their City and Guilds Welcome Host Gold training and are now 'quality assured' to meet and greet passengers landing at the airport.

Visit Kent chief executive Sandra Matthews-Marsh said: "Manston is a tremendous asset to our county. When passengers land there we know they will be given the warmest welcome to Kent possible.

"Those first impressions will make a huge difference to people coming to our county on business, for a short break or longer holiday, or to share in the 2012 Olympic celebrations.'

WHAT is your business doing to help Keep Kent Working? Are you running an apprenticeship scheme to attract young workers? Are your employees being sent on training courses to aid their personal development? Or are you funding a university scholarship to help find the businessmen and women of the future?

Train & Retrain EDUCATION

Healthy competition for paramedic degree slots

ASPIRING paramedics are competing for a place on a new degree course offered by the University of Greenwich at Medway.

The BSc in paramedic science combines learning in the workplace - as part of an ambulance crew - with academic study, assessments and laboratory exercises

Delivered in partnership with the South East Coast Ambulance NHS Trust, the degree programme has already attracted more than 230 applicants competing for just 15 available places.

Programme leader Dave Kerr said: "This is a degree that leads directly to a professional job and promising career path, so we're seeing more and more people regarding life as a paramedic as a serious option.

"The role has grown beyond recognition in recent years. Paramedics may once have been perceived merely as ambulance drivers but now they have responsibility for all sorts of areas of pre-hospital patient care.

"They have to make on-the-spot assessments about what care is needed and are also expected to diagnose heart attacks, for example, or administer some types of drugs.'

Greenwich has invested heavily in facilities for the new degree, including two fullyequipped laboratories which have all the medical equipment used by paramedics in practice.

They also contain life-sized mannequins, specially developed to replicate the chest movements and breathing patterns of reallife patients who may be suffering heart attacks or strokes

Mr Kerr said: "The degree programme will be producing graduates with a tremendous range of skills, which will benefit local health services.

"Increasingly, registered paramedics are to be found working for institutions other than ambulance trusts such as out-of-hours GP providers, minor injuries units, walk-in centres and various health providers.

"I also expect to see many of our graduates quickly progressing to senior roles.

LONG ARM OF THE ARM: Students made a training film for Kent Police

It's an even fairer cop

PERFORMING arts students at K College took part in a project designed to promote the Equality Act to Kent Police.

They spent two days filming scenarios at the police training school in Maidstone, which will be used as an e-learning tool for officers and support staff.

A spokesman said: "The project provided an opportunity for community engagement for the police and a real-life work experience for the actors, giving our students a chance to extend their performance skills in a real workplace situation. The scenarios cover discrimination around gender, age, sexual orientation, race and disability.'

The spokesman added that the training tool has a potential audience of 6,000 police personnel across Kent.

Course's clear career goal

BEXLEY College has teamed up with Charlton Athletic FC to offer a sports coaching qualification for 16 to 18-year-olds

The 20-week course starts next month, combining a BTEC level one diploma in sport and leisure with an FA level one football coaching qualification.

A spokesman said: "This newly-formed course will not only enable students to learn in the classrooms but also combine coaching and practical training at one of Charlton Athletic Community Trust's sports facilities.

"Bexley College and Charlton provide highly qualified and experienced trainers, there to help students reach their potential and move closer to their dream career."

(NEW HYTHE LANE, EAST MALLING & LARKFIELD) ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984

NOTICE is hereby given that the Kent County Council. in exercise of its powers under Section 23 of the Road Traffic Regulation Act, 1984 and all other enabling powers, intends to convert the existing Zebra Crossing to a Puffin Crossing on New Hythe Lane East Malling & Larkfield situated outside the common boundary between Numbers 13 and 14 New Hythe Lane.

The purpose of the scheme is to provide a safe place for pedestrians to cross as there are concerns over pedestrian safety within the area. The existing Zebra Crossing is used by an increased number of school children and shoppers using nearby facilities has a high population from the surrounding residential housing estates.

A Puffin Crossing has facilities to cancel pedestrian demands when they cross in the gaps and to allow for varying clearance times after the pedestrian green signal, to allow for slow pedestrians without harassment from drivers. The pedestrians in the area would therefore benefit from the introduction of a Puffin Crossing to assist with the high pedestrian movement throughout the area

Copies of the plan showing this proposal, an explanatory statement and a map showing the extents of the scheme may be inspected during normal office hours at The Kent County Council Offices, Sessions House, County Road, Maidstone, Kent, ME14 1XX, Dartford Borough Council Offices, Civic Centre, Home Gardens, Dartford, DA1 1DR, and Stone Parish Council Office, Recreation Ground, London Road, Stone, DA9 9DQ.

Hyundai i10 Blue

HYUNDAI delivered a wake-up call to British motorists in 2008 when it launched its i10 baby car.

It was a five-door mini-marvel with the usual Hyundai bargain price and five-year warranty.

Sales had a further lift from the Government-backed Scrappage grant scheme – trade in your banger and we'll give you two grand towards a new one. It made the i10 an unmissable bargain then, but the car maintained its sales momentum for the Korean marque even after the end of the Scrappage offers.

Early power options were nothing to get excited about though and didn't do much to dispel the Noddy car image.

But things have improved and the Korean marque has now stolen a lead during a major revision of the i10 range by offering a version with CO2 emissions low enough to limbo beneath the 100 g/km bar for road tax.

So you'll pay nothing to keep this motor on the road and it can average nearly 70mpg.

So it's very green, except it's called the i10 Blue.

I blame the Germans; it's all to do with the likes of Mercedes-Benz and VW not wishing to do the powerful German Green Party any favours, so they call their green models BlueEfficiency and BlueMotion. It seems Hyundai is adopting the same colour coding.

Whether you buy the Blue or one of the other models in this enhanced i10 range though, you'll get a surprisingly impressive driving experience.

It certainly doesn't ride and handle like a Noddy car and there's a lot of room, largely because the i10 has the longest wheelbase in its class.

Standard kit is generous too for a range starting at a modest £8,195 and including air conditioning, an iPod/USB link, sixspeaker stereo, electric windows and central locking.

The start price buys you the Classic entry model but trading up costs just £600, first to Active trim, and then a further £550 for the flagship Style.

You pay a little extra upfront for the long term fuel/tax and eco savings from running the standalone Blue model though.

ne standalone Blue model though. It costs £9,195 but that does take account of a specification including the stop and go technology that switches off the engine at the lights or in a jam to save fuel and emis-

It also brings the low rolling resistance tyres that are part of the car's green credentials.

Power comes from a little three-cylinder 68bhp 1.0-litre engine that is refined for this class, even when cruising the motorway. A possible downside for some buyers though is a sedate acceleration — 0-62 second in 14.8 seconds — so I would be inclined more to the other engine option, a smoother four cylinder 85bhp 1.25-litre engine that delivers 62mph in 12.2 seconds and will still average more than 60mpg. There is also an auto option with this, though there are the predictable performance and consumption penalties.

VW aims to be the pick of pick-up

VOLKSWAGEN'S new Amarok pick-up is due on sale in the spring.

It will arguably be become the first pick-up truck with some badge cachet – more for the builder 'who done good' and surveyor set rather than the builder's bum brigade.

The German marque expects the Amarok's appeal to be boosted by the largest load dimensions in its class and technology and safety systems not usually associated with the sector such as electronic differential lock, anti-slip regulation, ESP with hill hold assist, hill descent control and off-road ABS.

A special Berghaus version has been created in collaboration with the outdoor clothing specialist.
The California Berghaus limited edition model will be available with a 2.0-litre BiTDI 180PS engine and boast standard equipment including a bike rack, awning, Berghaus-branded carpet mats and waterproof seat covers, and exclusive 18inch two-colour 'Dakar' alloy wheels

Alfa's new diesel engine for Giulietta

ALFA Romeo's Giulietta five-door hatchback range has been boosted by the addition of a new second generation MultiJet diesel engine. The firm's new 2.0 JTDM-2 140bhp unit boasts low fuel consumption and running costs.

The new Alfa Romeo Giulietta features reduced CO2 emissions and reduced fuel consumption (119 g/km and 62.8 mpg respectively in the combined cycle). In real terms, with a 13 per cent benefit in kind rate, 40 per cent tax bracket company car drivers will pay as little as £90 a month in company car tax for the Lusso trim version.

boasts a long servicing interval -

This particular Giulietta also 21,000 miles – thus minimising work required on the vehicle during its life cycle and cutting its running

Gordini Wind Roadster blows into town

FOLLOWING the launch of the Twingo and Clio Gordini models, Renault's Wind Roadster is the next to receive special attention.

The coupe-roadster bears the Gordini colours and comes with 17-inch black diamond alloy wheels. It features Malta blue bodywork with trademark twin white stripes, Glacier white door mirrors, grille trim and rear wing, and a gloss black roof.

The cabin features special 'Gordini' black and blue leather upholstery, blue and white door straps and a blue leather steering wheel with the signature white stripes on the centreband.

A leather gear lever gaiter and polished metal gearknob bearing the Gordini name complete the look.

DrivingReview PICHARD M HAMMOND

Ford Mondeo

MONDEO man may not have proved as pivotal in last year's General Election as he was back in 1997, but at least he can take solace in the fact that in the 13 years since, he has become better looking, more reliable and more powerful.

He may or may not be so pleased to hear that he's also become more exclusive. In the decade and a bit since New Labour entered power on a ground-swell of support from the Ford Mondeo driving everyman, the rep-segment staple has been overtaken as the vehicle of choice for motorway journey-men by the premium BMW 3 Series model, with drivers buoyed by a booming economy and an arguably more even distribution of wealth.

A couple of years on from the hardest-hitting recession of a generation all of that seems a long time ago – and now the Ford Mondeo is gunning to bring some of those premium saloon drivers back into its fold as the age of austerity hits home.

There are one or two problems, however. Firstly, the Mondeo had become rather expensive as a result of a drop in the value of sterling. Secondly, those drivers who have been enjoying the high regard, powerful performance and premium feel that a German marque affords have become somewhat accustomed to the trappings.

The responses have come two-fold. Ford has recently restructured its price plans across the existing line-up of models, offering far greater value across its range, including the Mondeo.

NEW ERA: Ford is hoping its latest Mondeo will lead to a return of premium saloon drivers

And now the Mondeo has been revised with the aim of offering more power, more refinement and a more premium feel.

Read any review of the previous generation Ford Mondeo and it will tell you that it offers a class-leading package. Handsome good looks, a spacious interior, a contemporary cockpit and the crisp handling that's become expected of Ford models were all present.

It's probably for the best, then, that Ford has concentrated its efforts resulting in a revised model that is at once comfortingly familiar and intriguingly different.

It's worth noting early on that the traditional four-door saloon model is no more in the UK due to lack of demand.

From the outside, the changes are subtle but apparent up close. The shared front ends are more in keeping with the hugely popular Focus and S-Max models. The upper portion of the grille is sleeker, while the lower, trapezoidal portion has been made larger.

LED running lamps are integrated into the fog-lamp units and, along the sides, more chrome around the windows of the upper trim level models highlights the sleek window line and gives a greater impression of quality.

The same affect is mostly achieved inside, with revisions to details such as the door-panel design giving a more upmarket and design-conscious feel. The centre console boasts a simple and attractive layout while the instrument binnacle is very impressive, with a clear colour display conveying information in an effortlessly absorbed manner.

The menu-based interface takes a little practice to master but is a success, and even the models equipped with the new lane departure warning and speed limiter options use a minimum of buttons.

Material quality is good, with soft touch plastics to the upper portion of the dash. Only the satin-finish surround for the centre console is likely to divide opinion.

The changes go beyond cosmetics. Two new engine options include a 197bhp version of the 2.2-litre 'DuraTorq' diesel and a 237bhp, 2.0-litre 'EcoBoost' petrol. The latter is available with Ford's six-speed, twin-clutch PowerShift automatic transmission.

It's a slick combination and one that makes the most of the Mondeo's cosseting ride and responsive chassis, with seamless drive and an impressive turn of speed. Importantly, it's as smooth in town at low speed as when cruising, requiring no special treatment from the driver's seat.

Interior space remains one of the Mondeo's trump cards. It feels hugely accommodating from the passenger seats, and the boot is generous in five-door form. For the driver, the impression of size remains present on the road — making it a tight vehicle to position against an oncoming tractor — but it's a small price to pay for such accommodation.

Mondeo man can continue to feel on top of his game for a few more years yet.

DrivingReview EVELOADER

Nissan Juke

NISSAN has been transformed in just a few years from being viewed as boring to being one of the funkiest brands around.

What's more, with its huge Sunderland plant churning out cars for the home market and Europe, it is also seen increasingly as a British brand; no small thing at a time when Brits are tempted to put their money where the local jobs are while also making the best of sterling's low buying power.

Last year, the brand launched another winner out of its plant in the North East - the curiously named Juke.

It can mean a lively roadside bar in the USA or a crafty manoeuvre in sport; either would fit the distinctive Nissan, though it eludes another obvious association – jukebox.

The Juke isn't in any way a box, even if a distinctive front lighting array allows the car to be lit up like an old-fashioned Wurlitzer jukebox and it represents a funky selection, if you want a different style of supermini.

Nissan designed it to shake up that small car sector like its big brother, the Qashqai, which has already rattled the family hatchback market and created a new market segment – crossover.

Its baby brother ain't pretty, but superminis are the shopping trolleys of the motoring world – and can all look alike when parked in rows down at the local Tesco. The Juke can stand apart though, with its British-built bulldog looks.

And if the lines are aggressive, so is the pricing from £12,995, which buys you a small car that can also trade punches with main-stream family hatchbacks – a size up from

The Juke is a fun car to drive too; it sits higher than average but handles tautly even if a relatively heavy body tends to lean on the bends

And is offered with some good engines, though it's a tough call on whether to go for petrol or diesel. The latter is a 108bhp version of the familiar 1.5-litre unit from Nissan's parent, Renault, which is wellregarded from appearances in various car models, but adds around £1,300 to the price of an equivalent Juke with the cheapest engine option, a 115bhp 1.6-litre petrol.

There is also a performance choice (from £16,045): a 187bhp petrol engine as driven here that plays to the Juke's handling strengths and is also smooth and enjoyable to live with.

You can have 4x4 version too, but this comes at £20,345 in flagship Tekna trim and with an auto box only. I've not driven it, but at that price and with the Juke unlikely to yomp across a ploughed field despite off-roader styling cues, I'd say that's an expensive posemobile.

Stick with the idea that you are buying a versatile five-door hatchback that is wellpriced and distinctively styled though, and the Juke makes a strong case.

Nissan has also ensured the eye-catching exterior is not let down by a dull cabin. You sit quite high up though the rising shoulder-line impinges on the view out for smaller passengers in the back, while taller ones there may find their headroom affected by the pseudo coupe styling. For the same reason, the boot is also rather small for what seems a relatively big car.

But these are trade-offs that many buyers will surely give up to get something so distinct from the run-of-the-mill hatchback and it's hard to even think what it's obvious rival would be since it almost sits in a category of one - sports crossover perhaps - which is why I went for the Alfa MiTo (see facts panel), simply because it's another fun car that says much about the person who drives it.

DrivingPortfolio NISSAN JUKE 1.6 ACENTA DIG-T (SPORT PACK) £16,045 Driving appeal (OUT OF FIVE) * Image Space  Value Running costs * Reliability  How green?  Road tax £155/year Best rival Alfa Romeo MiTo TheVerdict DON'T LIKE: the rear passenger's experience - high windows and a lack of headroom MOT SURE: everyone will like the Juke's in yer face looks

the aggressive pricing to go with the bulldog demeanor – it's a great fun car for the money

My Money 24

Online this week at www.mymoney24.co.uk:

Don't pay for perks that you already have

My husband has been offered a Premier Current Account by our bank, Lloyds TSB. I think it looks expensive, but he says the benefits are worth more than the monthly £25 fees. If he is right, is there any account that I can point him towards that would give similar benefits but cost less? AS

This is a "packaged account" at the top end of the price scale, and everything depends on your lifestyle. If you and your husband are jet-setters who travel the world clutching your mobile phones, then you might benefit from the Premier account. But the chances are that you could do better by picking and choosing the various perks that go into the package, and then buying them elsewhere. The benefits include travel insurance, international mobile phone insurance, and access to a privileged lounge at the airport. There is also credit card protection and AA breakdown cover. All of these are available elsewhere, and if you need them, you will probably have them already. And if you belong to the AA, you may well have more than just breakdown insurance – so paying for it as part of a packaged account means paying twice over. The watchdog Financial Services Authority has some concerns over the spread of packaged accounts. It is making inquiries into the way all the big banks market them. For example some customers may not be eligible to make a claim under travel policies, perhaps because of their age or pre-existing poor health, so they end up paying for insurance that is no use to them. Could your husband get a packaged account more cheaply elsewhere? Yes, of course. Natwest's Advantage Gold account costs only £12.95 a month. It includes Green Flag breakdown cover, travel insurance and mobile phone insurance, as well as some holiday and hotel discounts. But the same golden rule applies – check the benefits and see how much use you would make of them. Try not to end up paying again for perks you already have elsewhere.

I am tempted by Nationwide's Protected Equity Bond as it pays 7pc interest, with more if the stock market rises. Normally, I would avoid anything connected to shares, but this appears to guarantee that my money could not go down. SO

With interest rates very low, it is not surprising that investors are attracted to any scheme that offers a 7pc return. But I hope you noticed that this is a sixyear investment, and that 7pc is the total return, not an annual figure! This works out at 1.13pc each year, which is pretty much what you can get elsewhere without locking up your savings until 2017. And there is a cap on the profit you can make if share prices do rise. This works out at a maximum annual gain of 6.99pc. True, your savings will not go down, but I doubt that they will go up by very much, either. And you may need your money at some point in the next six years.

My sincere thanks for your advice in December to people who were taxed under Pay As You Earn but are now being told they owe in excess of £1,000 in unpaid tax from the previous two years. On the day the article appeared, I received a letter from HM Revenue to say I had underpaid £1,056. I challenged this, as you advised, and yesterday I received an official letter to say I need not pay it. RS

It is always good to learn that a piece of advice has worked out so well. For the benefit of other readers, my advice was that the instruction manual for tax officials includes something called Extra Statutory Concession A19. This says that tax can be cancelled if you declared all your income and arrears were caused through mistakes by the taxman or a failure to make use of the information you supplied.

According to the BBC, interest rates are expected to rise soon. Assuming I can get a mortgage, would a fixed-rate loan be better than a tracker, even though it would cost more at first? TLP

I do expect a rate rise, but not a sharp one. The Bank of England is unlikely to risk the economic recovery with any major increase. I would opt for a tracker mortgage, but you could try for the best of both worlds as the Skipton Building Society (0845 850 1711) offers a tracker at 3.49pc interest with the option to transfer to a fixed rate later.

Our daughter will be going to university in Durham. If we buy a flat that she can share with other students, and they pay rent to her, could we be liable for any income tax? GT

If the flat is yours, then the rental income is yours, even if your daughter collects it. You can claim tax relief for quite a few expenses, though. There is a useful list in the Money section of the government website www.direct.gov.uk

Food price inflation unfair, says report

By ED FOSS

MyMoney24 writer

Food price inflation in the UK could be described as unfair or excessive, according to a new report by a leading investment bank.

And a formal government-led food price inquiry could be sparked by the behaviour of supermarkets in raising their prices above and beyond what is justified by inflationary pressures, the report from UBS has warned.

Commodity price inflation over the past few months would justify a 3pc to 3.5pc increase in processed food prices, but supermarkets have increased prices by 6pc to 6.5pc, said the bank.

UBS economist Paul Donovan, who co-wrote the report, said: "That suggests there may be margin expansion in the supermarket sector.

"Prices are rising in excess of justifiable cost increases."

He added that price increases by supermarkets were adding 0.3 to 0.5 percentage points to the official consumer prices index of inflation, currently at 4pc.

The research also showed shoppers were seeing steeper rises in food prices than most other members of the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD). According to UBS, food prices in

According to UBS, food prices in Britain have been rising at an annual rate of 4.9pc, compared with a Eurozone average of 1.8pc.

A weak pound had contributed to the UK increase, but the scale of inflation had made Britain the OECD country "most vulnerable" to political interference.

"UK food prices are rising more rapidly than most other OECD economies' food prices, and have significantly outstripped food retailers' cost inflation.

"This could allow UK politicians to suggest that food price inflation is 'unfair' or 'excessive'."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: A new report by UBS has found that food prices have risen by 6pc to 6.5pc in some

A British Retail Consortium spokesman said: "There is no question that grocery prices in this country are still lower than most other European countries because of our intensely competitive supermarket industry. Food prices have not risen at anything like the same rate as commodity prices.

"It is clear that supermarkets are shielding customers from the full impact."

Stop smoking to feel much wealthier

BAD HABIT: Quitting saves money.

Stubbing out the fags could see smokers being better off by thousands of pounds – and not just because they have stopped forking out on tobacco.

With National No-Smoking Da

With National No-Smoking Day coming round again, the data crunchers at Moneysupermarket have calculated that someone who kicks the habit could save themselves an average of £6,659 on a combined critical illness cover (CIC) and life cover policy, or up to £1,570 on a single life-insurance policy.

Meanwhile, with the average smoker getting through about 14 cigarettes a day, someone giving up could save more than £1,800 a year on tobacco. At a time when many people are seeing the cost of living going through the roof.

it's something well worth considering – above and beyond the obvious health benefits.

"Not only can smokers reap the medical benefits by kicking the habit, they can avoid letting their hard-earned cash go up in smoke," said Emma Walker, head of protection at Moneysupermarket.

"With significant savings to be made, those who make the decision to quit should shop around for the best insurance deals to suit their circumstances."

It's important to remember that insurers will insist a smoker has kicked the habit for a full year in order to be classed as a "nonsmoker" and qualify for savings on their life-insurance premiums.

By ADAM AIKEN

MyMoney24 editor

This week's ruling by the European Court of Justice means we are likely to see changes to our insurance premiums.

What precisely will happen is yet to become clear, but it is certain that it will be even more important for consumers to shop around for the best deals.

Day-to-day premiums for general insurance are likely to be affected, young women motorists probably at greatest risk of seeing hikes in their hills.

Another group of people who could see a major impact are those approaching retirement, with fears that men will see their pension payouts cut thanks to the inability of insurers to compensate them for their lower life expectancy.

Whatever age you are, you can expect to see some changes, so here are a few tips from the experts on keeping your car insurance premiums down, and your pension income up.

CAR INSURANCE

Annual mileage

If you drive only about 6,000 miles a year instead of the average 12,000, it's worth selecting the lower mileage on your insurance as it can make a difference to your premiums. But don't underestimate your mileage in the hope of tricking your insurer.

"If you said you drove 6,000 miles a year but you actually drove 20,000, it may invalidate your insurance if you do have to make a claim," said John Miles, business development director at comparison site Gocompare.com.

Courtesy cars

Don't assume that the courtesy car on your policy is standard. It may be an extra you're paying for.

"If you think you could manage without a courtesy car if yours is taken off the road for a while, it's worth seeing how much you could save by removing it from your policy,' said Mr Miles.

Increase your excess

Opting for a higher voluntary excess could help to lower your premiums - but you will need to decide if paying a slightly lower premium is worth the risk of having to contribute more towards repairs if you do have to make a claim.

Named drivers

A motorist who is young or inexperienced, or who has made claims or has motoring convictions, can benefit from having a named driver on the policy. "An older driver with a clean licence and plenty of noclaims bonusentitlement could reduce your premium," said Mr Miles. "But if you're the main driver, make sure you're noted as such on the policy. If you say the more experienced person is the main driver when they are not, you're likely to be found guilty of a fraud known as 'fronting', and you could invalidate your insurance.

Protected no-claims

"If you've accumulated several years" no-claims bonus, you may want to consider protecting it so that you still benefit from the discount it entitles you to if you make a claim," said Mr Miles. "This will increase your premiums a little bit but, in the long term, it could pay for itself many times over.

Look around before you renew

Never accept the first quote you're given and never automatically renew. Insurers rarely reward you for loyalty, and people who don't switch will end up subsidising those who do.

PICK OF THE WEEK

In association with the experts at Moneyfacts.co.uk, we highlight some of the best new products launched this week.

Savings: Melton Mowbray Building Society

The Online 100-Day Notice has been launched by the Melton Mowbray. This online-only account pays a monthly rate of 2.75pc. hyestors can make deposits of between £1,000 and £250,000. Savers must give 100 days' notice to access funds and early access is not allowed.

A maximum withdrawal limit of £10,000 a day also applies. All transactions must be made via a nominated account. Savers must be aged 16 and over.

Why is it good?

This rate features as one of the market leaders for monthly interest, although investors must plan ahead if they need to access funds as no early access is permitted

Savings: Halifax Halifax has launched its Isa Direct Reward paying an annual rate of 3pc, including a variable bonus of 2.5pc for 12 months. The rate reverts to that of the Isa Saver Direct (currently paying 0.5pc) after 12 months. The minimum investment is £1 and the initial deposit must be made within 28 days of opening the account. Transfers in are accepted. The account is available to savers aged 16 and over and can be operated online or by telephone. Why is it good?

The rate on this new product is 0.2pc higher than its predecessor, and the deal sits just below the current market-leading no-notice

Mortgages: Principality Building

The society has reduced its buy-tolet variable tracker rate mortgages by up to 0.3pc. The new two-year tracker deal offers a rate of 3.19pc, has a maximum loan-tovalue of 60pc and has a fee of 2.5pc of the mortgage advance. Incentives of a free valuation and free legal fees for remortgage customers are offered. Why is it good?

The previously-reduced 3.29pc twoyear tracker rate has been dropped again, making it the lowest-priced product over this term.

Personal loans: M&S Money

M&S Money has reduced its unsecured personal loan rate for its £7,500 to £15,000 tier by 0.6pc, to 6.9pc. Customers need to be aged 30 and over or be existing homeowners to apply for this product and be aware that the rates quoted will be dependent on their credit ratings.

Why is it good?

By reducing its rate, M&S Money now offers the lowest rates available for amounts between £7,500 and £15,000. Applicants have the option to defer payments for three months if necessary and the loan term can be as long as

How to beat the EU's insurance crackdown

It is not just general insurance that will be affected – pension providers will also be barred from using gender as a factor when deciding what annuities to pay people in retirement. At the moment, men tend to receive a higher monthly income from their annuities because they have a shorter life expectancy than women. But just because gender is being taken out of the equation, it does not mean that all annuities will be the same. Far from it, in fact – using what is called the open market option, you should search to find the insurance company that will give you the most generous monthly income in return for your pension pot.

Don't be put off Ray Black, an IFA and founder of Money-minder.com, said it was important not to let the publicity generated by the court's decision put you off the idea of a pension.

"Saving into a pension is still extremely tax-efficient, and with new rules regarding the flexibility of what you can do with your pension pot, it is an essential element of retirement planning," he said.

Annuity optionsPension providers will issue you with retirement quotes that have various options, such as a spouse's pension, an annual escalation or a guaranteed period. Shaun Braybrook, an independent financial adviser with NW Brown Financial Services, said: "You are not usually obliged to take the benefits in a particular format, so consideration should be given to which of these options are the most appropriate for you.'

Guarantees
"Check whether your pension plan has any guaranteed rates or minimum income levels associated with it," said Mr Braybrook.

"Older policies in particular often include these, and they usually compare very favourably with today's annuity rates. More modern plans will not normally have these guarantees, but it is always worth checking.

suffer from ill health.

Mr Braybrook said: "A number of insurance companies will turn your pension into a retirement income based on your state of health. "Any medical or lifestyle conditions, both past and present, could be considered, and many people could now qualify for enhancements even if they suffer from relatively mild problems such as high blood pressure.

Other options

Buying a traditional annuity is not the only way to provide you with a retirement income.

"Other options are available should you wish to take some level of investment risk," said Mr Braybrook. "These can be more complex but could ultimately provide you with a way to boost your retirement income or perhaps leave a greater amount to be passed on to your loved ones.

Mr Black suggested the court ruling could play a part in encouraging income drawdown - taking a cash lump sum – rather than annuities.

"For many years now, annuities haven't offered particularly good value," he said.

"For people with pension pots of more than £100,000, the European Court of Justice ruling could make income drawdown even more attractive.

Start early

"Young people don't think much about what will happen to them when they retire but the simple fact is that the sooner you start putting money into a pension, the better off you'll be when you do give up work," said Mr Black.

"For a basic-rate taxpayer, for every £80 you put into a pension plan, the government will top this up to £100. For a higher-rate taxpayer, the benefits are even greater.

Even if you don't work and don't pay tax, you can still contribute up to £2,880 a year and the government will top it up to £3,600.

Lazenby leaves KRBS weeks after takeover

KENT Reliance boss Mike Lazenby has left the company three weeks after the completion of a £50 million takeover, writes Business Editor Simon Robinson.

Mr Lazenby stood down from the newly-retitled OneSavings Bank on Monday, ending his 11-year tenure as CEO.

His departure comes just three weeks after US private equity firm JC Flowers' takeover of the Chatham-based mutual went through.

Mr Lazenby said: "It has been a pleasure to serve members' interests as CEO of Kent Reliance and latterly as CEO of OneSavings Bank. I am proud of the strong reputation we have built in retail financial services, and it has been a privilege to work with such a talented team.

"I have no doubt OneSavings Bank will go from strength-to-strength while retaining its mutual ethos at the heart of the business."

OneSavings Bank chairman Malcolm McCaig said: "Mike is a passionate supporter of mutuality and had the foresight to recognise the need for Kent Reliance to seek a partner to preserve its mutual ethos and develop its franchise.

DEPARTURE: Mike Lazenby was at the helm of Kent Reliance for 11 years

"He played a key part in the creation of OneSavings Bank, and, in doing so, has helped protect the interests of members as part of a bigger, better capitalised and competitive player in the financial services sector

"The board would like to thank him for all he has done for KRBS and OneSavings Bank and for his role in creating such a strong foundation for future growth. We wish him well in his future endeavours."

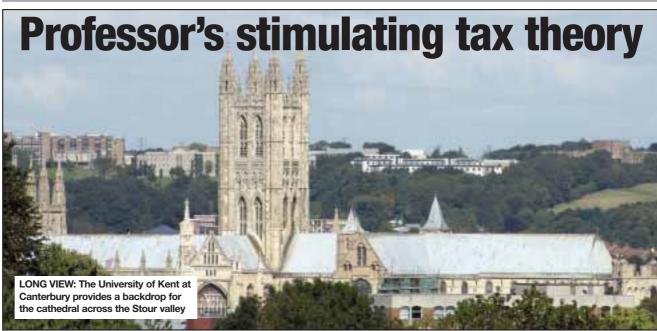

KRBS officially became OneSavings Bank on February 1 after 75.8 per cent of members voted in favour of the JC Flowers deal – 75 per cent approval was needed for the deal to go through. Speaking at the time, Mr Lazenby said the takeover would not immediately affect the way KRBS operates.

He said: "We will continue to run as a mutual until JC Flowers owns 90 per cent of the business, which is a long way off.

"They have also agreed not to pay any dividends to their investors for the next five years, which is an incredibly long time in business. For example, five years ago we couldn't possibly have imagined the economy would be the way it is today.

"If they decide after five years that they want their money back – and it's not been agreed that they will – then that would give us the option to buy them out. It's not a given that everything will be over and we'll become a proper bank.

"Five years is a long way off and a lot of things will happen before then. In the meantime we'll be going back to lending people money, which we haven't been able to do for some time, and we'll be offering some pretty good rates."

AN ECONOMIST based at the University of Kent at Canterbury has claimed a slight tax switch could help the country drag its way out of recession.

A study co-authored by Professor Christopher Heady found that switching some of the tax burden from personal and corporate income towards housing and consumption could boost recovery.

Working with a team of researchers from the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), Prof Heady found that taxes on consumption, such as VAT, and taxes on the ownership or occupation of houses, such as council tax, are the best way to stimulate longer-term growth. Coupled with income tax cuts, a shift of just one per cent of tax revenues in this direction could increase economic output by between 0.25 to one per cent, the research team found.

Their findings are published in this month's issue of The Economic Journal.

"When the economy is in recession, the best taxes to cut early are on income taxes for people on low incomes," said Prof Heady.

"When, as now, the economy is in recovery and the budget deficit needs to be reduced, the best taxes to increase are taxes on consumption and on the ownership or occupation of houses. Although taxes on housing are unpopular and could produce only modest increases in revenue, they should be considered because the current arrangements can encourage people to buy houses that are larger than they really need, diverting investment from more productive uses.

"However, taxes on the sale of housing, such as Stamp Duty, should not be increased because they discourage the reallocation of housing to its most productive use and make it expensive for people to move to better jobs. These taxes could even be reduced if sufficient additional revenues were raised from other taxes on housing."

IGH-achieving women continue to hit their heads on the impermeable glass ceiling, according to Lord Davies' latest report. Mervyn Davies, who now goes by the grand title of Lord Davies of Abersoch, found that big businesses' boardrooms remain something of a boys' club.

The most recent research by Cranfield School of Management shows women hold just 12.5 per cent of board seats on FTSE 100 firms and only 5.5 per cent of the executive posts available

Lord Davies' Women on Boards report calls on these firms to increase the number of women in these positions to 25 per cent by 2015.

If this voluntary target is not met, Lord Davies suggested that Government should look to introduce quotas to force the FTSE firms' hands into opening the door to women at the top level.

His precise wording is delightful. In summation of his findings and advice to Government, he writes: "On balance the decision has been made not to recommend quotas. Government must reserve the right to introduce more prescriptive alternatives if the recommended business-led approach does not achieve significant change."

I'm less inclined to proceed with a by-the-numbers quota system. The number of women in boardrooms should be increased but it should be based on meritocracy alone.

Promoting women to the top positions purely as part of a Government target-hitting exercise is no less sexist and demeaning as overlooking them in the first place.

If a female employee has the right credentials and is the most suitable and capable candidate, then it is only right that she should be given the job - any job - over a male counterpart.

These quotas would see the prejudicial balance shift from one extreme to the other.

Vacancies should be filled on the tried-and-tested basis of merit. A stricter and more severe industrial tribunal system would soon see the number of women who successfully and deservedly smash the glass ceiling soar.

Davies' verbal hammer taps the 'glass ceiling'

By SIMON ROBINSON

simon.robinson@kosmedia.co.uk

BIG businesses must smash the glass ceiling for women or face strict quotas, Lord Davies has warned.

In his Women on Boards report, the former Labour trade minister recommends UK-listed FTSE 100 firms should aim to increase female board representation to 25 per cent by 2015.

Women currently occupy just 12.5 per cent of these boardroom positions.

For Lord Davies' target to be reached a third of all new board appointments - 135 in total will need to go to women in the next four years.

Should business fail to hit the one-in-four female board members figure, the former Standard Chartered chairman has hinted that they face the introduction of "more prescriptive changes" in the form of enforced quotas.

Lord Davies' report also recommends that companies should set targets for 2013 and 2015 to ensure that more talented and gifted women can get into the top jobs in companies

Firms should also fully disclose the number of women on their boards and working in their organisations as a whole in order to drive up the numbers with top jobs in business.

Lord Davies said: "During the past 25 years the number of women in full-time employment has increased by more than a third and there have been many steps towards gender equality in the workplace, with flexible working and the Equal Pay Act. However, there is still a long way to go.

'I HAVE experienced gender imbalance in business and politics.

'I have managed to enjoy a career and have a family, but there is much to be done and some of Lord Davies' propos-als may find wider application. I am encouraged by his attitude towards quotas. Positive discrimination can demean a woman's real value and alienate men. Our aspiration must be the creation of fair, real and equal opportunities where meritocracy wins. This is an exciting time for the promotion of women in business, the professions and politics. Government has a role but legislation will not fix the problem. There needs to be a shift in attitudes and behaviour.'

HELEN GRANT MP. Maidstone and the Weald 'WOMEN have so much talent to bring to businesses. But, all too often, by takall too often, by tak-ing career breaks to have children, are unfortunately still seen by some as being less commit-ted than men.

'On returning to work, they can find it difficult to rise above a certain level in their careers. However, many women are incredibly ambitious and hard-working and although may not be able to work the traditional nine to five, are more resourceful, creative and productive with their time.

'I welcome every move that allows talented women to move up to board level and bring all their skills to the fore.

SAMANTHA BLANCHARD MBA, head of marketing, Kent Business School

"Currently, 18 FTSE 100 companies have no female directors at all and nearly half of all FTSE 250 companies do not have a woman in the boardroom. Radical change is needed in the mindset of the business community if we are to implement the scale of change needed.

This is not about aiming for a specific figure and is not just about promoting equal opportunities, but it is about improving business performance. There is growing evidence to show that diverse boards are better boards, delivering financial performance and growth.

I have been pleased to see the huge amount of interest this review has sparked both from individual businesses and industry groups. I hope the recommendations I have announced will mark the beginning of a step-change so that more of our talented women get seats on our top boards.

'R&D base closure will affect housing market'

PFIZER'S planned departure from Sandwich could have a detrimental effect on the property market in east Kent, according to a law firm.

Senior partner at Fosters Law, Edward Foster, said although the lower end of the market would most likely remain stable, those in homes worth £250,000 and upwards could be forced to drop prices in order to sell.

His warning follows the announcement that the pharmaceutical giant was leaving east Kent, putting at least 2,400 jobs at risk and raising concerns about an exodus from the area.

Mr Foster said: "If the market is suddenly filled with properties prices will fall. Properties in olaces such as Ash and Wingham, where it is usually more expensive to buy, will become accessible. As soon as a large supply of properties enters the market it becomes a buyers'

"Pfizer employees may have to accept less than what they paid for their properties.

Mr Foster said the impact would also affect rental homes, where landlords would have to drop their charges.

"If you can get an executive four-bedroom house for £200 less, no one is going to pay more," he

Mr Foster said another effect of Pfizer leaving would be employ-ees downsizing as a result of skilled workers having to take lower-paid jobs.

This would increase demand at the lower end of the market and this area, up to £250,000, would therefore remain stable supply and demand would balance out," he said. Steve Evans, associate director of estate agents Oakwood Homes, which has offices across east Kent, said Pfizer's decision could have an impact on the number of people moving to the area.

"I'm not expecting a large impact in terms of property prices. A lot depends on the time frame of the Pfizer situation," he said. "If we're looking at people leaving the area over two or three years, it's probably not going to have a large impact.

"However, people who may have been looking to make an aspirational move to the area for work may reconsider," he said.

THE BIG INTERVIEW

Sandra Matthews-Marsh, chief executive of Visit Kent, has been dedicated to promoting tourism in the county for 13 years. She has more than 20 years' experience in the industry, in both the public and private sectors. She has led Visit Kent for six years, following on from her role as director at Leeds Castle. Her CV includes director of marketing at the South East England Tourist Board in the late 1990s and she is a Fellow of the Tourism Society. She played a key role in securing seven million euros in EU funding for the development of tourism in the run up to the 2012 London Olympic Games.

KOS Media business editor SIMON ROBINSON spoke to her

CONFIDENT: Sandra Matthews-Marsh

ISIT Kent chief executive Sandra
Matthews-Marsh has 63,000 colleagues.
The tourism boss is responsible for bringing these industry professionals working in a wide range of businesses across the county together for the common good.

After all, if visitor numbers rise, so do profits for all. Mrs Matthews-Marsh says the all-in-it-together ethos is key to her organisation's mission statement. Speaking at Visit Kent's Canterbury city centre headquarters, she outlines the group's two-fold purpose.

"The first goal is to support Kent's 63,000 tourism jobs an environment where the industry can flourish," she said.

"The second goal is to create a partnership platform on which all businesses can stand together as a unified destination. "When people visit a destination, it's not

"When people visit a destination, it's not straightforward. When you go on holiday you stay in a hotel, go out to eat, visit attractions and so on. So the idea of Kent businesses working together makes sense."

Creating this Kent tourism company cooperative has taken time, but Mrs Matthews-Marsh said the organisation had now reached "maturity".

"I was invited to come on board to help the business when it was quite embryonic. We only had a few investors and were coming to the end of a big funding commitment from Eurotunnel.

"It was a question of can we make this a sustainable business and grow it into something that will genuinely represent the 3,000 tourism businesses in Kent.

"Seven years later, we've built up nearly 300 investors, secured a number of European funding grants and we believe we're now a commercial and viable business that is able to do the job properly.

"We have a critical mass of businesses who believe in us and don't just throw money into the pot but participate at exhibitions and support programmes we do.

"We have reached maturity. We were toddling three years ago, we're now standing up and walking."

HE Visit Kent team has become adept at making the most of the county's assets and maximising returns on the opportunities it is presented with. They began work on the 2012 Olympic Games three years before they were awarded to London.

ere awarded to London. The sports department was similarly proactive on the golfing front, working behind the scenes long before Sandwich was picked as host of this year's Open.

And they are also heavily involved in the development of Kent's wide range of existing and soon-to-be open tourist attractions, who receive particular praise from Mrs Matthews-Marsh.

She said: "A large part of our success is down to our partners' product improvements. "For example, the Folkestone Triennial has

"For example, the Folkestone Triennial has proved a huge success; the Turner Contemporary is set to open in April; and the Marlowe Theatre is also set to reopen. All of these are great cultural assets that are coming to the fore ing to the fore.

"We couldn't achieve anything without our partners as we're only as good as they are. They are making their products better and have created a big momentum and energy that we are trying to capture and lift."

The tourism group has spent heavily in a bid to keep the ball rolling, with £400,000 being allocated to the Kent Contemporary campaign. Billboards promoting the Garden of England have been placed across the capital in a bid to entice Londoners and residents from neighbouring counties to come to Kent.

The first phase of posters saw a 47:1 return on investment

RS Matthews-Marsh said: "We sent the figures back a number of times for stress testing because we were so impressed by the result. They are phenomenal. We are delighted – well above the industry standard. The campaign was set up to make people look again at Kent, show it again in a new, fresh way.

"The campaign was very clever but very simple. We already attract 45 million visitors a year to Kent but a lot of people on our doorstep overlook it. We were trying to reach these people and our research shows that we have done.

"The key message is that Kent is contemporary. We've got all the great heritage such as the White Cliffs and Leeds Castle, but we've also got great food, wonderful events, fabulous cultural assets, a great coastline – these are things that people are surprised to learn Kent has."

The first phase of the billboard campaign used photographs of Kent landmarks such as Hever Castle, Botany Bay and the Goods Shed in Canterbury, but Mrs Matthews-Marsh is hopeful that one of the county's newest tourist attractions, the Turner Contemporary gallery in Margate, will have similar pulling-power to its established rivals visitors will be very important," she said.

"Visit Kent has been working closely with Thanet District Council to make sure that what we call the wraparound effect is there, with neighbouring businesses supporting the gallery.

"The thing we have to remember, though, is the reason Turner is in Margate is because it's a tourist town that's been in decline. Turner is in there because of that fact.

"We don't make destinations overnight. We will have a world-class gallery. Turner is the beginning of the turn for Margate.

"There was a degree of frustration around what might be perceived as a lack of other infrastructure, but it's coming. When it opens there will be a lot of private sector entrepreneurs who emerge very quickly, having seen what Margate has to offer.

offer.
"There has been cynicism and we understand that, but it's been disappearing day by day. There's building excitement now about the gallery and it's role in the regeneration of the town."

Mrs Matthews-Marsh's enthusiasm for her role is apparent from the outset.

HE speaks confidently and quickly throughout, leaning forward in her chair keen to stress the positive and far-reaching effects tourism can have across the county.

It seems this passion was ignited at an early age, with the geography and library student heading to Hastings to work in a tourist information centre rather than return to her south London roots.

She spent the next 13 years in the East Sussex seaside town, after moving into local government.

"It was the heyday of tourism beginning to be seen as a regeneration tool within local authorities' framework," Mrs Matthews-Marsh said.

"I had a very happy time there, helping the resort rebuild itself. Hastings had seen a period of decline and decay. To a degree it's still going through that, as are most of our coastal towns.

"It's a bit of a long haul and there are a lot of parallels between places like Hastings and Margate and Folkestone."

The South East England Tourist Board and later Leeds Castle came calling, with Mrs Matthews-Marsh taking up the roles of marketing director and then marketing and operations manager and operations manager.

Her time at Leeds Castle prepared her for her current role at Visit Kent and threw in a few A-list celebrities along the

"In my time at Leeds Castle I gained good experience at how to run a business, learning about heritage and how to manage a big budget. It was a wonderful experience. I worked all kinds of crazy hours but I also got to meet the Prime Minister, who came for a conference, the Duke of York and Elton John. I even got to see Pavarotti perform live."

While Mrs Matthews-Marsh speaks fondly of her 20-year tourism career, she is more enthused about what the future bolds

"We'll be spending a lot of time promoting rural Kent, which is very exciting," she said. "We also have a new programme about showing how the county is a great place for art and culture. Looking further ahead, the anniversary of the Magna Carta is in 2015 and that has a lot of associations to Kent.

"The sports team also has a number of events in the pipeline that we hope will come to fruition. There's lots going on."

NEW DAWN: The Turner Contemporary gallery in Margate will play a key role in the resort's regeneration, says Sandra Matthews-Marsh

Food and drink heroes rewarded for their efforts

THE county's top food and drink producers were honoured at the annual Taste of Kent Awards, writes Simon Robinson.

The finalists gathered at Leeds Castle on February 25 hoping to take home a title in one of 12 categories. Winners included The Secret Garden restaurant, near Ashford; Whitstable Brewery; and Kent Fine Foods' lavender jelly, for food product of the year.

The Produced in Kent-backed competition drew 10,000 votes for the second consecutive year and saw 542 businesses and products nominated by the public.

The top three publicly-chosen finalists in each category were then subject to an expert judging panel, mystery shoppers or mystery diners, who selected the final 12 winners.

"Each of these Taste of Kent Award winners, together with the finalists, is doing something amazing in this corner of England," said Julie Monkman of Produced in Kent.

"The Taste of Kent Award winners are our food and drink heroes and have put the Garden of England on the British food and drink map.

A LANDMARK liquid gas deal will see £2 billion of fuel pass through the National Grid's Isle of Grain terminal in the next three years.

Energy suppliers Centrica signed a contract with Qatargas to buy 2.4 million tonnes of liquefied natural gas (LNG) – a tenth of Britain's annual consumption.

The long-term agreement is the first signed by a UK firm, with previous LNG deliveries bought per tanker on a fluctuating "spot market"

But with LNG use in the UK set to rise from 15 per cent last year to 50 per cent by 2025, more of the country's energy giants are likely to follow suit.

Centrica chief executive Sam Laidlaw said: "The UK is the largest gas consumer in Europe and one of the fastest growing markets for gas imports. LNG provides the UK with a bridge to major global gas reserves. This deal is of particular importance and we hope that this will be the start of a longer-term working relationship.

"The relationship between Qatar, the world's leading LNG exporter, and the UK connects supplier and consumer nations. Securing gas supplies benefits our customers, underpins our business and provides an important component of the UK's long term energy security."

Prime Minister David Cameron, who saw the contract confirmed during a business tour of the Middle East, said: "I welcome the announcement by Centrica and Qatargas. This important agreement is good for Britain, good for our energy security, good for jobs and good for economic

The last phase of expansion work at the Isle of Grain LNG terminal was completed last year at a cost of £310 million.

The site now has a daily capacity of 59 million cubic metres of gas - enough to supply up to 12 million homes.

Grain already has the largest tank capacity of any terminal in the UK and looks set to be further developed.

National Grid confirmed that a fourth phase of expansion was being discussed and that additional capacity, should there be sufficient market interest, could be available from winter 2015/16.

BP, E.on Ruhrgas and Sonatrach are among the other customers to use the Isle of Grain terminal. Centrica's first Qatar-to-Kent shipment under the new deal is expected to arrive in June.

Rapid developments in the Gulf

SOUTH East companies are being encouraged to look to the Gulf states for new business partners.

Government trade bosses say firms across the region can capitalise on the Middle East's rapid business development and diversification.

The Gulf states have branched out from the traditional gas and oil sectors, creating new opportunities across a range of industries including infrastructure, low-carbon technologies, education, healthcare and

Delegation

Trade and investment minister Lord Green, who visited the Gulf with Prime Minister David Cameron and a business delegation, said British firms were playing a major part in the ongoing development of the region.

"I was delighted to be visiting the Gulf with an impressive delegation representing the UK's top businesses and universities," he said.

"The delegates showcased the wide range of business opportunities on offer for UK firms in the region.

"These and other British firms are supporting the creation of some of the world's most modern infrastructure in the Gulf.

"They are helping develop knowledge-driven and greener economies as well as providing education, healthcare and new technologies to the region's young and fast-growing populations.

"Thousands of firms are already doing business across the Gulf. UK Trade & Investment has identified key opportunities in infrastructure, particularly ports, airports and railways as well as social infrastructure, including healthcare and education, and the energy sector."

Samir Brikho, CEO and British business ambassador for AMEC, which has a site in Ashford, said: "The Middle East is an important region to AMEC and sits on the strategic path to the delivery of AMEC's Vision 2015 strategy. We see real opportunity for AMEC's capabilities throughout the region."

Sir Frank Williams, team principal for the Williams Formula One team, said: "Two years ago, we established the Williams Technology Centre in Qatar to develop technology originally derived from our F1 racing team.

Progress

"We have been delighted with the progress made to date and in a very short space of time have managed to secure new customers for the simulator and energy storage devices we are developing in Qatar.

"The business infrastructure in Qatar, along with access to the qualified students graduating from the universities in Education City in Doha, make Qatar an ideal venue for us to fulfil our research and development projects.

"We have already made many friends in Qatar and hope to make many more."
